Rhonda was born & raised in OK & worked her way through college in "dirty" jobs like trucking, utilities, and some construction. Upon graduation she worked for the State – she is a government employee. Issues of concern are rising utility costs mostly caused by Data Centers, over 20,000 abandoned oil & gas wells, some contaminating the ground & water that have been left for the state to deal with. Oil production wastewater injection wells purging and spreading toxic contamination to vegetation, water sources, and livestock. She is not against oil & gas but does take issue with companies that make billions in profit annually from Oklahoma's resources but then make a mess and leave it for the state & taxpayers to deal with. She has concerns with the amount of water data centers require and the wastewater they produce while only creating a few dozen jobs. She is running to be an advocate for the people and their voice on the commission..
